24. “Who is in charge of safety at the organized matches”? The person running the match is the defacto Range Safety Officer (RSO) for the day. This is the person collecting the fees, recording the scores, etc. This RSO may counsel a shooter who is behaving in an unsafe manner. The RSO may prohibit the shooter from further participation in the match that day. The RSO may ask the shooter to leave the bay for the day. In this case the incident shall be reported to the Executive Officer.

In an extreme case the RSO may ask the Executive Committee to remove the shooter from the club.

The RSO will provide a detailed report of the infraction including date, time, names of witnesses, and all information pertaining to the offense to the Executive Committee in writing and may be asked to appear in person before the Executive Committee meeting for further clarification.

25. Any member witnessing unsafe practices at the range should report same to the Executive Officer or any officer. Get all info possible including name of person, license plate no., make and color of vehicle, etc.

A friendly request to correct the unsafe practice might be in order, but do not instigate a confrontation.

Let the officers handle the situation.
